• MAJOR TOURIST ATTRACTIONS

HANOI The present site of Hanoi was chosen for Vietnam's capital by King Ly Nam De as early as 542 A.D. and was named Thang Long (Soaring Dragon) later in 1010. Hanoi has since remained the capital of many royal dynasties.

An ancient capital, Hanoi still preserves almost intact nearly 600 pagodas and temples. Many city streets with their ancient architecture bustle with trading activities.

HALONG BAY It is a beautiful bay of Quang Ninh province, about 170 km northeast of Hanoi. The book "World Wonders" published in Paris in 1950 says that Vietnam has two wonders - the old Imperial City of Hue and the Bay of Halong.

DANANG Danang is a large and deep seaport in Central Vietnam. Major tourist attractions of Danang: the Marble Mountains, white sandy beaches, Museum of Champa, Hoi An old town, My Son Holyland of the former Kingdom of Champa.

HUE Hue is known world-wide for its imperial architectural treasure which include the royal citadel, palaces, tombs, pagodas and shrines located in dream-provoking natural landscapes on either side of the Huong (Perfume) River.

From Hue, tourists can take sight-seeing tours to the Ho Chi Minh trails, the under-ground tunnels of Vinh Moc at the 17th Parallel and other places of the Second Indochina War.

HO CHI MINH CITY The biggest city in Vietnam now was formerly known as Saigon. Ho Chi Minh City is an industrial, commercial and cultural center. The city has many large hotels offering wide range of services.

CANTHO Can Tho, the capital of the Mekong provinces, is 169 km southeast of Ho Chi Minh city. Main tourist attractions : rice granary, immense orchards, bird colonies and snake-farms.

HISTORY Vietnam is one of the earliest cradles of the human race. Vestiges of the Vietnamese anthropoid discovered at the Do Mountain are believed to date back 300,000 years. Vietnam, as a nation, was founded 4,000 years ago by the Hung Kings and was then called Van Lang.

CULTURE The time-honoured culture of Vietnam has created many traditional forms and genres of literature and art bearing an original national character such as : CHEO (popular opera), TUONG (traditional opera), CAI LUONG (renovated opera), WATER PUPPETRY, and QUAN HO folksongs.

• Canals in Mekong Delta.

• TOURIST HOTELS AND GUEST HOUSES

Hotels can be found in all tourist centers. They are provided with necessary amenities, a small number of them are of pretty high standard. Apart from hotels, tourists can stay in guest-houses and private homes.

FOODS The preparation of good food is an art for Vietnamese cooks. Vietnam boasts nearly 500 traditional dishes. Carefully prepared with a sense of balance between various ingredients, Vietnamese foods are not only nutritious but delicious and attractive.

DRINKS There are a lot of Vietnamese drinks which have been displayed at many international fairs. Vietnam has over 30 kinds of wine plus mineral water and fresh and nutritious fruit juice.

SHOPPING Vietnam boasts many traditional arts and crafts many of which have been displayed at international fairs and shops. Worthy of note are Rattan and Bamboo crafts, embroidery, ceramics, inlaid mother-of-pearl articles, lacquerwares and jewels.
